

1. What is the core message that you have got from today's lecture? Write down the key points that you have learnt (in your own words).

-The message I got from this lecture is,

- FYDP should be aligned with specific research goals.
- Not Only Idea but also execution and outputs are important for successful research.
- Impact has levels like department, university, national and international. Recognition at a lower level like winning a project showcase may have little value in the real world if there's no output.
- Original contribution and ownership are important in research. Personal projects or stealing other ideas aren't considered as research.
- Those who are working with datasets should make sure that all ethical issues should be resolved.
- Only Chasing competitions in project like UIU Mars Rover can waste time and affect CGPA.
